PRESS RELEASE

Local Fertility Specialist To Speak at Pennsylvania Academy of Family Physicians Foundation's Nemacolin Breakaway

PITTSBURGH, PA (February 28, 2006) Local fertility specialist Carolyn Kubik, M.D., Medical Director of Reproductive Health Specialists, Inc., will give a speech titled Fertility Issues and When to Refer at the Pennsylvania Academy of Family Physicians Foundation's (PAFP/F) Nemacolin Breakaway. The event will be held March 3-5, 2006 at the Nemacolin Woodlands Resort in Farmington, Pennsylvania. Dr. Kubik will speak Sunday, March 5 from 9:15-10:15 am.

The PAFP/F is a nonprofit educational organization that meets at least twice a year to discuss quality health care, policies and updated technology.

Dr. Kubik will be speaking on fertility matters such as identifying which issues are important when ascertaining medical histories and understanding the point at which it is appropriate to refer patients for further treatment.

Dr. Kubik has been actively involved in research and teaching in the fields of OB/GYN and Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility for 20 years. Her experience includes being the first woman to serve as Administrative Chief Resident of the OB/GYN residency program at Magee-Womens Hospital at University of Pittsburgh Medical Center (UPMC). She was also a part of the history making team that performed the first successful gamete intrafallopian transfer (GIFT).

Reproductive Health Specialists, Inc. (RHS) is the region's only independent, women-owned and operated reproductive endocrinology and fertility center focused on one goal: helping every patient to have a baby. The practice has two locations: Monroeville and Wexford.
