New Year Brings New Approach to Fertility

RHS Offers Acupuncture Lecture as Part of Balance Within Program

PITTSBURGH – December 12, 2007 – Many hope the New Year will bring a new baby into their lives, and Reproductive Health Specialists (RHS) is helping out by offering a unique approach to fertility treatment. On Monday, January 7, 2008 at 7:00pm, RHS will host a talk, “Natural Fertility Enhancement: Wholistic Acupuncture” at their Wexford office location.

The talk is part of RHS’s Balance Within program, which encourages patients to try acupuncture as well as other stress reduction techniques. The doctors at RHS believe, and research has shown, that reducing stress helps patients respond better to medical treatment, which increases the likelihood of achieving pregnancy. In addition to the physical benefits, the Balance Within program invites sociability among patients, creating a community and a support system for those struggling with the same problems.

The presentation will be done by Sydnie Bryant L.Ac. and Jessica Fritz L.Ac. of Wholistic Acupuncture Pittsburgh. For more information or to register for the talk, please call (412) 731-8000.

Reproductive Health Specialists, Inc. (RHS) is the region’s only independent, women-owned and operated reproductive endocrinology and fertility center focused on one goal: helping every patient to have a baby. The practice has two locations: Monroeville and Wexford.
